Emanuel El Bazaar Well Attended

A brilliant bazaar was given at the Columbian Club last night by the Temple Emanu-El Sisterhood to raise funds for the last payment on the Temple organ. A crowd of approximately 600 persons was present, and, although no tabulation so results was made, those in charge believe they were sufficient to insure the bazaar's success. Each of the seven booths did a tremendous business and some reported their stock nearly depleted at an early hour.

One of the most novel features of the evening was the bride's booth with Mrs. Herbert Mallinson in charge, assisted by brides of the last year.

"Ye old Curiosity Shoppe," a booth which sold various commodities given by merchants and distributing houses, was crowded during the entire evening and turned in the largest number of sales reported. Mrs. S. J. Davidson was in charge, assisted by Mesdames Nathan Wertheimer, J. Friedlander, Melvin K. Hurst, Louis Herman, Henry Levi, Max Philipson, Armand Roos, Guy Hirsch, Leon Lichtenstein, Carroll Simon, Leon Yesner, Paul Miller, Edgar Hurst, Louis Rosenberg, Henry Miller, Jules Hexter, Burton Wolff, A. F. Weisberg and Miss Dora Ronsenthal.

The sisterhood booth was in charge of Mrs. David Lefkowitz and the doll both of Mrs. Simon Linz, the cigar and candies of Mrs. Marx Baum, and cake booth of Mrs. Helen Hass and the country store booth of Mrs. Louis Goldman.

A dinner and a dance were given in connection with the bazaar.

Mrs. Theodore Marcus was general chairman of the fete.
